

Tanya Matthews

Bec

BookRix-Edition

Poetry

Tanya Matthews

Bec

Bec,

Words cannot express my sorrow,
As we should never have united this way.
As how do we mend
Our words of hurt
Which saw us part?

How do I live with this regret
That we can now never mend what was done?

You should not have left this way,
It is not right,
It is not fair.

How will i ever know
If you knew i was there?

How will I know
If you have forgiven me
Like I have forgiven you?

You are my big sister,
Through thick and thin.

So why did this have to happen this way?
Your life was cut too short.

Why did we not sort this out
Before it got to being too late?

If only I knew
You knew....

It still wouldnt fix this heavy sorrow,
As we were both very stubborn,
And pig headed.

Your life as a daughter,
A sister, friend and wife,
Meant a lot to us all,
In all different ways.

Nothing will replace you.

Nothing will let us forget you.
You will always remain
In our hearts
And in our memories.

And when I see you again,
I so hope to give you
The biggest hug
Life can bring to us all.

I love you
And I really miss you...

May your spirit carry on
God Bless you Bec.

Publication Date: January 28th 2010

<http://www.bookrix.com/-silver.rose>